Tinder Joins the Fight for Equality

We've got work to do.

This has been a year of marches. Of voices being heard. Of justice and outcries and coming together. Women are uniting in the fight for equal pay, equal treatment, and equal voice. Every day, the movement for respect and equality grows more public and more powerful.

The brave and bold women of the world have more than earned their seat at the table. They have fought the uphill battle against countless disadvantages and still manage to come out on top. We love that tenacity, but hate that it's necessary.

In honor of International Women's Day, Tinder will donate up to $200,000 toUN Women, an organization dedicated to gender equality and the empowerment of women.

Here's How You Can Get Involved:

1. Tweet #TinderForEquality and tag @Tinder
2. We'll donate $100 to UN Women on your behalf (up to $200k)

Join the fight for equality today.
