We Just Revamped Your Tinder Profile

You asked, we listened. We've made some exciting new changes to your Tinder profile including a slick, new Instagram integration and more common friends.

Instagram Integration

Tinder profiles just got a lot more colorful with Instagram integration. Setup is easy: just go to your profile, select ‘edit’ and choose ‘Connect Instagram.’ Confirm your Instagram username and password, and you’re set - your Tinder profile will automatically start displaying your recent Instagram photos. Now there’s no need to put your Instagram handle in your profile description to tell your story (we got sick of having to do that, too). And in case you were wondering, Tinder won’t post anything to Instagram on your behalf or alter your existing Instagram privacy settings.

Instagram integration is available to all members worldwide.

Common Connections

Tinder now shows you the mutual friends _and _friends of friends you have in common with your potential matches, adding more context and an extra degree of connection to every swipe. You won’t have common connections with every person on Tinder (that’d be super boring, wouldn’t it?), but when you do, we’ve got you covered.

UPDATE: Common Connections has been discontinued. We look forward to continue exploring new ways to connect people on Tinder.*

And coming soon: Expanded Interests!

Your brand new profile is waiting for you. Just open Tinder now to check it out (or update the app if you haven’t already). We hope you love it as much as we do.

Additional assets available online: Photos (2)

https://www.tinderpressroom.com/we-just-revamped-your-tinder-profile